Digital fundraising trends 2024

Vinita Srivastava

Hi. I am Director of Strategic Partnerships for PIR. My background is in technology product management and I love talking about how technology can help solve problems. (and sometimes create them :)

Public Interest Registry

Public Interest Registry (PIR) is a nonprofit that operates the .ORG top-level domain—one of the world’s largest generic top-level domains with more than 10.8 million domain names registered worldwide.

The charity sector in 2024

- Recovery
- Innovation
- Flexibility

Flexible Giving

The percentage of regular donors would welcome the flexibility to change their donation amount and frequency of donation.

Inverse giving

- When supporters donate to a particular cause due to negative headlines
- Increased giving during moments of fiscal uncertainty

“In times of economic recession and uncertainty, there is almost an inverse reaction by donors to be more generous in the beginning intensity of when you might see prices going up.”

Social media

- Referrals to new websites in decline on both Facebook and X (formerly Twitter)
- Rise of short-form video - but users don't like too many ads
- Organisations are reducing their advertising spend

TECHNOLOGY

AI IS ABOUT TO MAKE SOCIAL MEDIA (MUCH) MORE TOXIC

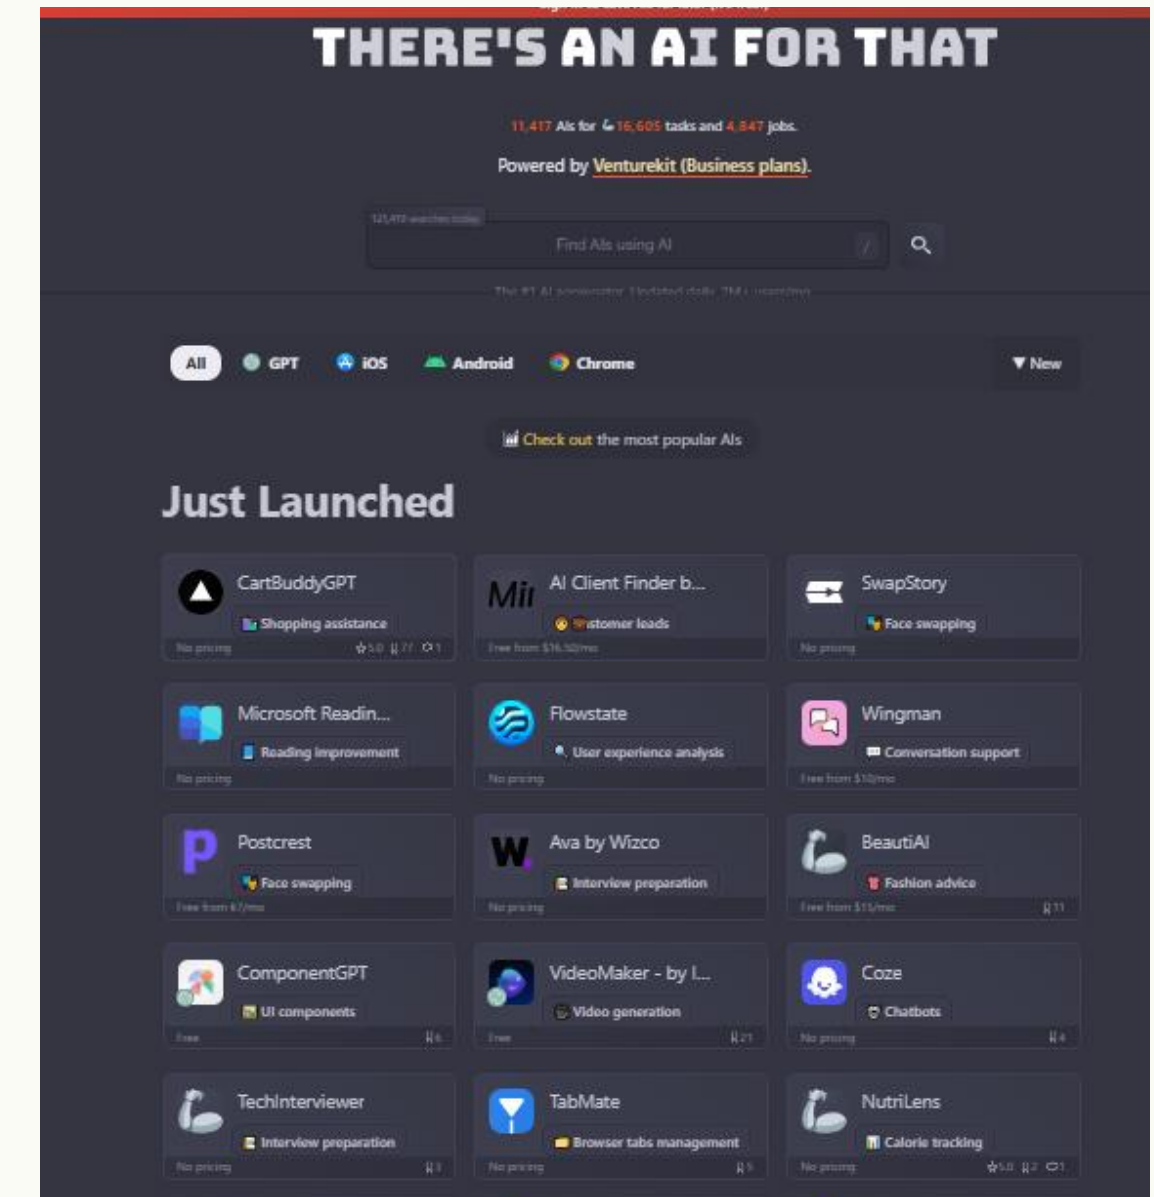

We must prepare now.

By Jonathan Haidt and Eric Schmidt

Fundraising with generative AI

- Text -based tools - e.g. ChatGPT, Jasper
- Image tools - e.g. DALL-E, DeepAI
- Audio tools - e.g. Soundraw, Jukebox
- Video tools - e.g. Synthesia, Pictory

Fundraising with generative AI

- Content inspiration
- Improve chatbots
- Enhance supporter experience
- Automating tasks e.g. managing donations

Gaming for Good

- The gaming industry is worth £7 billion in the UK alone
- Tried and tested - time for more charities to get on board!
- Don't forget the difference between gaming and streaming - streaming isn't always gaming, it can be anything from watching films to hosting a quiz

What the future holds

- Tread cautiously around politics - donors are divided about charity campaigning
- Steady donations - 73% of donors plan to donate to charity in the next three months
- People are still feeling the effects of the cost-of-living crisis, particularly young people. Flexibility and sensitivity around fundraising is vital
- Donors want to know where their money is going - this has been particularly pronounced amid the Gaza/Israel conflict
